SENIOR RESOURCE INFORMATION

MEMORY CARE

While there are no guarantees when it comes to preventing memory loss or dementia, certain activities might help delay or prevent the onset:

- Get plenty of physical activity – Exercise increases blood flow to your whole body, including your brain. This may help keep your memory sharp.
- Stay mentally active – Do crossword puzzles, play cards or other games, volunteer with a local organization, or participate in lifelong learning classes.
- Socialize regularly – Social interaction helps ward off depression and stress, both of which can contribute to memory loss.
- Keep yourself organized – Try to limit distractions and multi-tasking. If you focus on the information that you're trying to retain, you're more likely to recall it later.
- Get enough sleep – Sleep plays an important role in helping you consolidate your memories, so you can recall them down the road.
- Choose a healthy diet – Healthy foods are as good for your brain as they are for your heart. Eat fruits, vegetables and whole grains. Choose low-fat protein sources, such as fish, beans and skinless poultry. Limit alcohol and drug use.
- Manage chronic conditions – The better you take care of yourself, the better your memory is likely to be. In addition, review your medications with your doctor regularly. Various medications can affect memory.

If you're worried about memory loss — especially if memory loss affects your ability to complete your usual daily activities or if you notice your memory getting worse — talk to your doctor. He or she will likely do a physical exam, as well as check your memory and problem-solving skills.
